

“Sequestering in the Presence of our Love”

Where We Uncover and Express
Our Innate Primal Wisdom

CoreLight All-Student Conference
November 14-19, 2014

We will gather at the elegant Hyatt Tamaya Resort located on the vast, open Native American lands situated along the Rio Grande River in New Mexico. Here we are sequestered in a safe, beautiful and mystical space, where during our precious time together we can completely let go of the demands that the world makes upon us.

In this nurturing environment offered by the sweet ethos of Tamaya, we can be deeply rejuvenated and uplifted, and enjoy the freedom to fully immerse ourselves in transcendent states to advance our awakening.

Our intention with this retreat is to look deeply into and allow the full expression of our inner, untapped creativity and love. We will use a number of ways to access the wisdom of our bodies, minds and emotions, in addition to invoking our transcendent Spirit and Soul.

As facilitators, Leslie, Brad and Victoria plan to guide, rather than define, the parameters for the freedom, expansion and deep inner expression that will take us into a powerful shared transformative experience. Music, meditation, poetry and easeful free-form movement will allow us to subtly explore several different levels of awareness—states of a more egalitarian and collaborative consciousness from ancient Neolithic times, before Patriarchy. We do this work to bring forward our love and let of our fear.

During our time together we will also focus on expanding our capacity to fully let go of tension, ego constraints and fears. We will enter deeper states of meditation that open doorways to mystical practices, unify our consciousness into wholeness and allow us to become available to subtle, new levels of awareness.

Our primary intention is for our work together to further develop, prepare and guide everyone permanently into the balanced state of consciousness known as the Middle Way, the way of deep and permanent balance of mind, body and emotions.

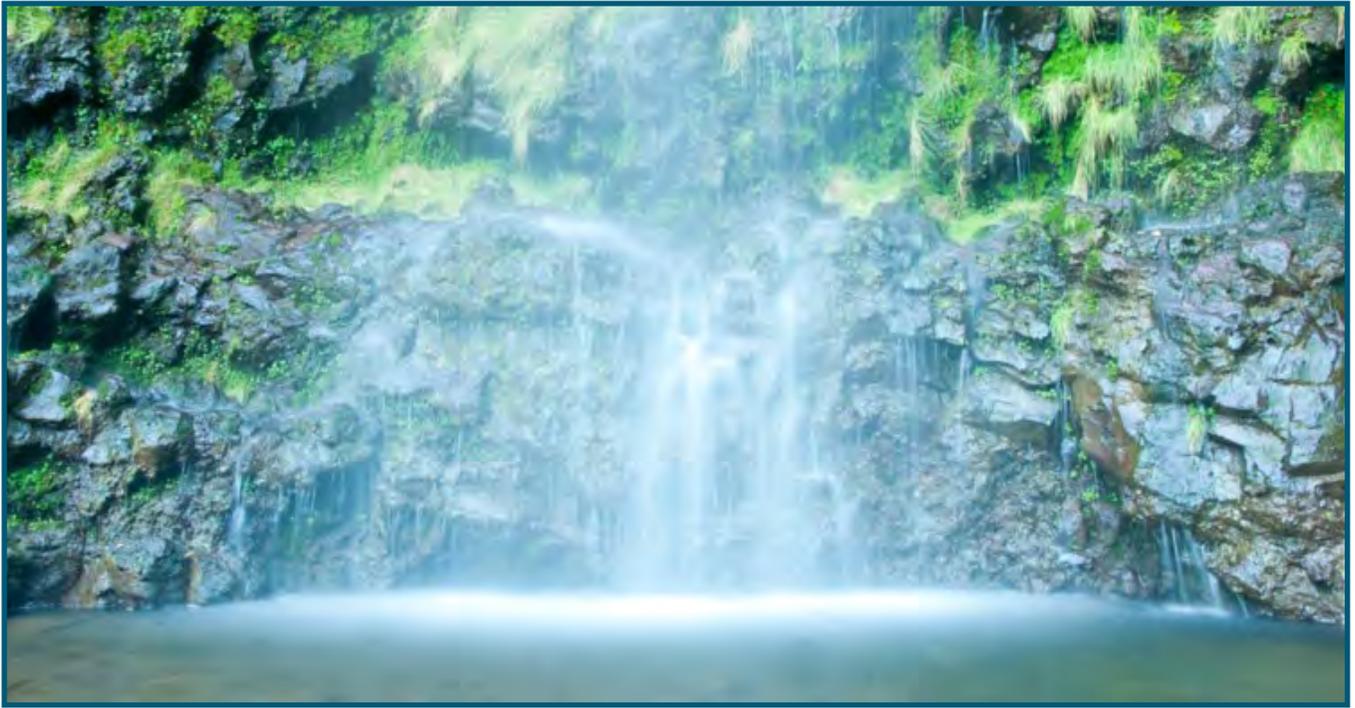

This transcendental state is held within our spine, the sacred meridian called the Shushumna—the eternal cord and gateway that paves the way for our entry into the Cave of Brahman and higher, whole-brain states—leading to enlightenment. This is something we must develop if we are to continue navigating the current times appropriately. There are still many ways in which we are all bound, to some extent, to this ever-darkening, third-dimensional world. Its physical limitations, so prevalent in the world and even in our own consciousness, could possibly pull us down as we navigate through what appears to be the climate of disaster that is holding the world and its continued development to ransom. We are seeking to ascend in consciousness to higher dimensions.

When we have the time, space and intention to explore our right brain and our higher capacities with the beauty and love invoked by music, movement, poetry and meditation, we can enter a variety of deep, subtle and transcendent soul experiences that will change us forever.

During our time together, we will explore our capacity to unify the left and right brain, so that the doorways into higher dimensions can continue lifting us up and out of the limitations of this world. All of the exploratory experiences we will move through during this retreat will open doorways that offer us opportunities to experience states of ascension.
