

Living Joyfully in Turbulent Times

Embodying the New Paradigm of the Heart

With Brad Laughlin

Boulder, Colorado

August 9 • Friday Evening Introduction • 7-8:30pm

August 10 • Saturday All-Day Intensive • 9am-4:30pm

We are in a collective dark night of the soul

Many individuals are experiencing their own personal dark night. The outmoded patriarchal systems that have dominated our planet for millennia are dying. Unprecedented change is upon us. Everywhere we look, we see fear, anger, despair and pain.

However, we can choose a different experience

How we handle the global and personal crises mirrors our personal spiritual growth. Irrespective of the nature or extent of the particular predicament, we can always choose to respond with the qualities of the heart. Love, generosity, compassion and gratitude are powerful qualities that ignite the alchemical heart as we prepare to walk the path of love.

How do we handle the intensity of global and personal crises and still lead a meaningful, loving life? How do we find joy? It is possible to do. There is a new paradigm of heart-centered consciousness birthing—if we know what to look for.

How we handle hardship determines our quality of life. Or as someone succinctly said, “attitude determines altitude.” Through spiritual practice and practical, grounded exercises, we can move beyond negativity and limitations, live permanently in the heart and experience joy.

Love in Action

In the old paradigm, the heart opens and closes with negative and positive stimuli, but in the new paradigm, the heart remains open regardless of outside stimuli. We may experience challenges, we may have to face our metaphorical demons, but we can still choose qualities of the heart, such as love, generosity, compassion and gratitude.

The natural out-picturing of this journey is putting our love into action in the world—in service to the Earth, to others, to nature. This is how we will transform our reality.

It all begins inside us, clearing our consciousness so that we can manifest the loving, peaceful world we most desire. This is not New Age fantasy, delusion or “spiritual bypassing,” where we deny the reality of our world in favor of magical thinking. Ultimately, because the outer world is a mirror of our own inner reality, we can change our outer reality through changing ourselves.

In truth, the world is what we make of it. And the greatest gift we can give the planet is our own awakened Self.

Joy is the highest manifestation of this path.
